Course Load Policy

1. Standard Course Load

The standard full-time course load at Westbrook University is 15 credit hours per semester, which allows students to complete a 120-credit bachelor's degree in four years. Students enrolled in 12 or more credit hours are considered full-time for financial aid purposes.

2. Maximum Course Load

The maximum course load without overload approval is 18 credit hours per semester. Students who wish to enroll in 19 or more credit hours must obtain approval from their academic advisor and the Dean of the college. Overload approval is typically granted to students with a cumulative GPA of 3.5 or higher and no outstanding Incomplete grades.

3. Minimum Enrollment for Financial Aid

Students receiving financial aid must maintain at least half-time enrollment (6 credit hours). Dropping below half-time triggers a review of financial aid eligibility. Falling below half-time in two consecutive semesters may result in loan repayment obligations beginning 6 months after the student first drops below half-time.

4. Part-Time Enrollment

Students enrolled in fewer than 12 credit hours per semester are considered part-time. Part-time students are subject to proportional tuition billing and may have limited access to on-campus housing and some student services. Academic advising and library services remain fully available.
