

Pass/Fail Grading Option Policy

1. Purpose

The Pass/Fail option allows undergraduate students to explore elective coursework outside their major without the risk of negatively impacting their GPA. This policy defines eligible courses, enrollment procedures, and grade conversion rules.

2. Eligibility

The Pass/Fail option is available to any undergraduate student in good academic standing (GPA $\geq$ 2.0) who has completed at least 30 credit hours. It may not be used for: courses fulfilling core requirements, major or minor requirements, prerequisite courses, or courses required by a student's college for graduation.

3. Limits

- Maximum of 2 courses per semester on Pass/Fail
- Maximum of 8 total courses in an undergraduate career on Pass/Fail
- Students may not combine Pass/Fail and audit enrollment in the same semester (more than 2 combined)

4. Declaration Deadline and Grade Conversion

Students must declare the Pass/Fail option through the Registrar's Office by the end of the third week of the semester. After this deadline, no changes are permitted.

A grade of C (2.0) or higher converts to a Pass (P) on the transcript. A grade of C- (1.7) or lower converts to a Fail (F). Pass grades do not affect GPA calculations; Fail grades are counted as 0.0 quality points and are reflected in the GPA.

5. Disclosure to Graduate Schools

Students planning to apply to graduate or professional schools should be aware that many programs scrutinize Pass/Fail grades and may require letter grade equivalents. Students are strongly advised to consult with their academic advisor before electing this option.
